About Us

The Robert McLaughlin Gallery (RMG) is a vibrant, engaging public art museum located in Oshawa's Civic Centre. The RMG is the largest gallery in Durham Region, and occupies an inspired 36,000 square foot building designed by architect Arthur Erickson.

Featuring a Permanent Collection of over 4,500 works of art, and seven galleries of diverse and changing contemporary and historical exhibitions, The RMG holds an important collection of modern Canadian abstraction and the largest holdings of works by Painters Eleven. The gallery also houses The Thomas Bouckley Collection, which represents archival photographic records of over 3,000 images of Oshawa and the region, connecting the community with local history.

A roster of dynamic public and educational programs, thriving volunteer program, gallery gift shop, inspiring event spaces, art archive and library, artist-in-residence lab, and art studio, comprise the gallery's many rich and diversified assets.
